Do you know where wild animals live?

HIGHLIGHT

Wild animals live in various habitats all around the world. Each animal found home in an unique environment. Zebras and elephants might meet each other in the heat of the Savannah at a water hole. In contrast sloths and gorillas only know the humid heat of the jungle. This board book depicts them in unique pictures, showing how beautiful and diverse the animal world is!

- Informative depiction of the lives and habitats of wild animals all over the world
- Easy for children to hold

Let's change the world together!

Environmental awareness is a current topic especially amongst the younger generations. Even the littlest ones can learn simple things to contribute to the fight against climate change. Small things like turning off a light switch or providing shelter for little hedgehogs can be the first step into the right direction. This board book serves as an inspiration, without a moralising undertone to introduce children in a playful manner to the environmental debate.

- Environmental awareness is an important topic for everybody
- Simple yet effective tips that make a difference
- Funny push-and-pull elements that teach children little ways to help in a playful manner

Home is where you are

- Understandable for children all over the world
- Illustrated by Hanako Clulow

Home can be the blue wide ocean. Home can be the warm savanna, the prairies or the dense jungle. Home can be near a mother and a father, home can be with a herd or a shoal. A beautifully illustrated picture book to discover more about animals' habitats and what it means for them to be at home.

The sounds of our world

Let me tell you about the world – with sounds and pictures alone. This wonderful enhancement of the bestselling picture books creates an immersive experience for young and old! Fourteen carefully selected sounds are able to work alongside the beautiful illustrations and breathe life into them: special atmospheric sounds set the tones of the different habitats around the world while the sounds of different animals showcase who lives in those places. It feels as if you jumped into the book and visited the places yourself!

- Sounds of various animals and their habitats enhance the beautiful illustrations of Kate McLelland to an immersive experience
- 14 sounds: long, atmospheric sounds create the sceneries depicted on the double pages with shorter animal sounds that can be started individually

The Magic behind Languages

Language is something beautiful, almost magical. It is one of the key differences between humans and animals. What makes it so special? How did the way we write, speak and live change our languages? Does a language define our worldview? This book offers insight in how humans have formed language and how language has formed them in return.

- Well-founded theories about languages and communication
- Different areas of language such as secret languages and slang

Can you escape, before it's too late?

- The reader becomes the protagonist and must solve different types of riddles
- Each title consists of multiple rooms or locations which lead to riddles
- Alternate ending possible that depends on the skills of the reader

Professor Ethan Tusk, your uncle and renowned scientist, has achieved the impossible: he created a portable time machine. The PORTA-Z, no bigger than a laptop, is ready for the first test run and you have to help your uncle. The plan is simple: you will travel together into the past and return after a few moments. Hand in hand, the PORTA-Z is activated and the countdown starts. But then your uncle has to sneeze and lets go of your hand just as the timer hits zero. A flash and everything you know has disappeared. Where are you – or when are you?

The Sumslers seek new Adventures on the Sea

- The Sumslers – you have to like them!
- Funny adventures to listen to or to read by yourself
- Walko at his best: Doctor Miez and his assistant Joschi are worthy successors of Elder Bear and Little Rabbit

The Journey to the Treasure Island
ISBN 978-3-8458-3855-7

It is time for a new adventure! All of the Sumslers agree, except for Joschi who would much prefer his comfortable deckchair to a ship that they built themselves. He nevertheless joins them, hoping for a pleasant trip down the river to the sea. Unfortunately, the weather changes drastically, heavy rain starts to pour and the strong wind eventually cause the boat to capsize. The Sumslers strand on an unknown island and have to find a way to survive. They had imagined another type of adventure, but who knows what they will find out on this island?

 ISBN 978-3-8458-3432-0

Meet Clara of the Cornflowerfield, a real little fairy that lives in the magical Glitter Forest. Well, she is almost a real fairy, because usually fairies are really good with magic. Clara is not. Whenever she tries to use a fairy charm something goes wrong and everything ends in chaos. The other fairies of the Glitter Forest laugh about her misfortune, nickname her Catastrofairy and tell her she is not ready to become a real fairy yet. Clara leaves the other fairies and flies far away from the Glitter Forest. But while trying to help a fawn she turns herself human-sized! Just in that moment someone finds her: the human boy Oscar. The adventure of the little almost fairy Clara in the human world begins.

A Pony for Christmas – and advent story

- 24 fascinating chapters: one per day until Christmas
- Exciting, fun and full of Christmas spirit
- Colorful illustrations by Marc-Alexander Schulze

It is finally here, the Christmas season has started! Obviously, Stella is already prepared. She has spent the last 11 months thinking about her wish list, writing down everything she wants, rearranging the list multiple times with only the top spot remaining fixed. There resides Stella's unparalleled wish for her own pony. Of course Stella is not a child anymore. She knows it is an unrealistic wish, but that does not stop her from dreaming. Then a wild pony appears in the city and her dreams do not seem so unreachable anymore.
