A mole in the hole

Oh no! Mo the little mole is stuck inside a hole in the ground! Only his feet are visible from the entrance of Jakob Mouse's home. The other animals need to help Mo! One after the other, his strongest friends try to pull him out of his confinement together, but even with the help of Mr. Bear, Mo does not move a bit. As a last attempt, Pitt the tiny chick joins the animals and finally they can pull Mo out of the mouse's home. He is free! No matter if they were big or small, every animal was important to rescue Mo and even a tiny little chick can make a difference.

- Hide-and-seek effect thanks to the different lengths of the pages
- Fun story that shows the importance of helping each other
- Humorous and modern illustrations by Eefje Kuijl

A lionheart never gives up!

Meet the little lion Tobe who has lost one of his legs to the crocodile. However, that does not hold him back from going on adventures with his friends. He plays catch with the cheetahs, scuffles with the rhinos and roars with his fellow lions. Whenever the others are too careful around him, minding his missing limb, he is quick to prove them wrong. One day, he decides to climb the highest mountain with his best friend the buffalo. Will they make it?

- Empowering story about bravery and being yourself

The magic behind languages

Language is something beautiful, almost magical. It is one of the key differences between humans and animals. What makes it so special? How did the way we write, speak and live change our languages? Does a language define our worldview? This book offers insight in how humans have formed language and how language has formed them in return.

- Well-founded theories about languages and communication
- Different areas of languages such as secret languages and slang
